Methodist Men Adopt Report of Policy Committee

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 31.—The new re-port of the policy committee of the Na-tional Convention of Methodist Men was adopted unanimously today and without debate. Bishop W. F. The resolutions also contain a statement made yesterday pleading for the evangelizing of the world and accepting responsibility for 166,000,000 people.

Before the adoption of the report an attempt was made to include a resolution in behalf of the superannuated ministers, but this failed. Another, resolution introduced by the business committee urged the laity to assist the district superintendent in adopting the new financial scheme in all the churches. Blahop McDowell, in explaining the report, said all the activities of the church were not included for the reason the

Commissioners Discuss Safety for Travelers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.-Means of obtaining the highest degree of safety in raffroad travel formed the keynote of today's final proceedings of the annual envention of the National Association of Railway Commissioners. Commissioner Kilpatrick of Illinois in a report on "Safety Appliances," urged immediate and definite action looking to greater safety in railroad travel. Commissioner Sague of New York was of the opinion that the operation of the standard signaling system with the overlap "would have prevented much of the recent accidents on the New Haven road." He added, however, that the "human equation" was a considerable factor in the operation of any sort of safety device and pointed out that many allroads had reduced the speed of their fast trains, thus increasing the safety of travel, in his judgment, 50 per cent.

He believed the reduction of excessive apoed was an advantage not only to the public, but to the railroads as well, "thus affording an impressive example of the folly of high speed competition It is better policy to run trains behind time than to take long chances of accidents," he said.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.-The senate banking and ourrency committee tonight tentatively agreed on four regional reserve banks for the proposed new currency system, with a provision that after two years th efederal reserveboard may add as many additional banks as it deems necessary, not exceeding twelve. The pending bill fixes the number at twelve and it has been understood the adminiscommittee did not wish to burden it tration would not consent to have it re duced below nine.

The sharp reduction in the number of reserve banks was the first radical amendment the committee has agreed upon and it was earnestly opposed by the administration supporters in the committee. Senators O'Gorman and Hitchcock, however, voted with the five republicans for the reduction, leaving but five democrats, Owen, Pomerene, Hollis, Reed and hafroth behind the administration proposal. The White House was stient tonight as to the committee's action. It has been generally supposed that the president igorously opposed cutting the number below nine

The administration supporters contested every step in th ereduction of the number of regional banks. Two of them voted to retain th enumber at twelve and three voted for ten banks. The proposal to fix the number at eight was defeated, seven to five, and by th esame vote the number was fixed at four. The proposition to in serve board might increase the number after two years, up to twelve, was voted Mrs. Wilson also is urging Postmaster into the bill with only two members opcation of the Lincoln Memorial highway. Just before the match was polled to the dry timber four barrels of highly inflammable oil was poured over the high pier, in order to assure a blaze which was discernable in almost any part of the city.

Six men worked all morning on the pile of timber only to have Fire Chief Salter condemn the proceedings and order the removal of the pile to the center of the lot. The first location was but fifty feet from the Catholic church, and Chief Salter feared the intense heat from the blaze would break the windows in the church. Chief Salter also allayed the fears of surrounding property owners by announcing that he would have a hose cart on the scene and would attach a hose to the hydrant at Eighteenth and

Quick Selling Merchandise

The retail merchants who read this newspaper are asked this question;

What kind of merchandise is the most profitable? The question is simple and the reply seems equally so: The most profitable merchandise is in the main that which is in greatest demand by the people. That is to say, merchandise of known quality and reliability offered at a fair and reasonable price. The profit may not be in all cases equal to that which a merchant may sometimes exact from nondescript merchandise, but the volume of sales is much greater; sales are made more quickly; stocks
